

Camp Read-A-Lot in Manokotak

January 16, 2025

On January 16, 2025, Manokotak “Nunaniq” School hosted its second Migrant Ed Night of the year. For this Migrant Ed Night, we did “Camp Read-a-Lot,” a camping themed reading adventure for kids and their families.

First thing families did when they walked in was sign in at our attendance table. At the table they received a camping themed cup and a punch card of the night’s activities.

One activity that the students could do was create a reading pledge. A reading pledge is a promise that students and their families make to read more at home. At this same station, students could go fishing for sight words. After they caught a fish, they had to read the sight word on it.

Another activity our students could participate in was “Reading Under the Stars.” In one of the hallways, we set up a couple of small camping tents and laid out books for the students to read. The students had fun reading with their friends and families in the tents.

A third activity that our students could do was build reading puppet pals. They were able to select from a variety of puppets, color them and then assemble them onto paper bags.

Participants also got to color, take pictures at our photo booth and make smores. A big thank you to Michael Robbins, Mary Lillie, Nikko Hilado, Leizel Rementizo, Bert Lillie, Lacy Davis, Amber Parks, Chloe Suckow and Katelyn Otani for your help to make Migrant Ed night possible.
